

The University of Kent invites you to attend

Innovation in Data Analytics and Digital Healthcare:

The benefit of academic-business collaborations

Wednesday 6th December 2017, 16.00-17.30

Rochester Building, Medway Campus, Chatham Maritime, ME4 4AG

At this event you will enjoy talks from the CEO of a leading UK health and social care software company, the Head of Medway School of Computing and a Medway NHS IT specialist.

This is an opportunity to connect with academics from the University and other businesses in your sector to explore development opportunities. You will also find out about relevant funding available to support collaborations.
